B. Use of Estimates in the Preparation of the Financial Statement

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Statutory Accounting Principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities. It also requires disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

- (10) Anticipated Investment Income Used in Premium Deficiency Calculation

The Company anticipates investment income as a factor in the premium deficiency calculation.

- (11) Management's Policies and Methodologies for Estimating Liabilities for Losses and Loss/Claim Adjustment Expenses

The Company records claims unpaid for both reported and incurred but not reported claims, which are expected to be paid after the period-end for services provided to members in the current period based on the Company's claims experience. This liability includes the estimated cost of services that will continue to be rendered after period-end for which the Company is obligated to pay in accordance with contract provisions or regulatory requirements. The amount of the estimated liability is actuarially determined based on historical claims data, current membership statistics, cost and utilization trends, and other related information and considers whether there are expected losses on existing contracts. This liability is an estimate, which is subject to the impact of changes in claim severity and frequency, as well as numerous other factors. Accordingly, this estimate is continuously reviewed and, as adjustments become necessary, they are reflected in current operations.

The Company records a related unpaid claim adjustment expense liability to reflect the cost to adjudicate the claims unpaid as of period-end. The unpaid claim adjustment expense liability is estimated as a percentage of the claims unpaid based on historical information on the administrative cost to adjudicate a claim.

- (12) Changes in the Capitalization Policy and Predefined Thresholds from Prior Period

No significant changes.

- (13) Method Used to Estimate Pharmaceutical Rebate Receivables

The Company accrues rebates receivable on a monthly basis based on the terms of the applicable contracts, historical data, and current estimates.

The Company also has the following additional significant accounting policies:

Revenue

Premiums are recorded as revenue in the month for which members are entitled to service. Premium income collected prior to the month for which the member is entitled to service is recorded as premiums received in advance.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The Company's government contracts establish monthly rates per member, and there may be additional amounts due to the Company based on items, such as age, working status, or specific health issues of the member. The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services ("CMS") has implemented a risk adjustment formula, which apportions premium paid to all Medicare Advantage ("MA") health plans according to the health status of each beneficiary enrolled.

The Company sells health policies for which the premiums vary based on loss experience. The Company estimates retrospective premium adjustments through the review of each retrospectively rated account, comparing the claim development with that anticipated in the policy contracts. Any accrued retrospective premiums are recorded through premium income.

Health Care Receivables

In addition to pharmaceutical rebate receivables, the Company's health care receivables also include claim overpayment receivables, which result from claim overpayments to providers, hospitals and other health care organizations.

Aggregate Health Policy Reserves

In addition to premium deficiency reserves, the Company records risk corridor payables in accordance with Statement of Statutory Accounting Principles No. 66, Retrospectively Rated Contracts for which adjustments are based on whether the ultimate per member per month benefit costs of its MA plans vary more than 5% below the level estimated in the original bid submitted by the Company and approved by CMS.

Reinsurance

Stop loss reinsurance is used to cover high cost members with catastrophic claims. The Company pays a monthly premium for certain eligible expenses. When a member's claims for hospital and professional services exceed applicable retention, which is subject to claims valuation, the Company receives a credit, or recovery of 90% of the excess up to the contracted agreement, up to the maximum benefit for each covered member.

D. Going Concern

As of May 14, 2021, management evaluated whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern and management has determined that it is not probable that the Company will be unable to meet its obligations as they become due within one year after the financial statements are available to be issued. Management will continuously evaluate the Company's ability to continue as a going concern and will take appropriate action and will make appropriate disclosures if there is any change in any condition or events that would raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern.
